DR. FRANKLIN

Minister, Author, Educator and Missionary

Word was received here Thursday of the death at his home in Richmond of Dr. James H. Franklin, age 88. He was born and reared in Pamplin, the son of Samuel Rice and Mollie Burruss Franklin, and one of the most distinguished persons ever to go out from Appomattox County.

Early in life he dedicated his career to the service of his Lord and Saviour. Upon graduation from Richmond College he entered the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, where he received his Theological Degree. He held pastorates in Leadville and Cripple Creek, Colorado, and then served as District Secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society from 1904 until 1906. From the latter year until 1912 he was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Colorado Springs. In 1912, he was made Foreign Secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, supervising its work in China, Japan, the Philippines and Europe and making many extended journeys to the missions in these areas. He also visited Africa as a special commissioner.

Following World War I, he was sent to study the religious and reconstruction work in the devastated areas of France and wrote a book on the subject, entitled "In the Track of the Storm." The French Government, in appreciation of his work, made him a Chevalier in the Legion of Honour.

Dr. Franklin was a member of the International Missionary Council and attended its special meeting at Jerusalem in 1928.

In 1934 he became President of Crozer Seminary, Philadelphia. This institution, under his guidance and administration, enlarged its facilities and its scope of work and service. Upon his retirement in 1946, he took up residence in Richmond, Virginia.

In the preface to one of his books appears the following statement: "Dr. Franklin's wide travel and large experience in mission administration qualified him to an unusual degree as an interpreter of the Christian Movement in the modern world."

During his active years his knowledge and comprehension of world situations as related to the Christian Missionary Movement was outstanding. At least thirty years ago in a sermon preached by him here at Liberty Baptist Church, he predicted some of the unfavorable results that might be expected to take place in world affairs, unless there was a marked change in the thinking and trends of that day and time. His predictions have proven remarkably accurate. His book, "The Never Failing Light," published in 1933, presents a most interesting picture and account of world needs in relation to Christianity. Dr. Franklin was also author of "Ministers of Mercy," "The Christian Crisis in China," and other works. He received honorary degrees from Brown University, the University of Richmond, and the University of Denver. He was a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity and the Phi Beta Kappa Society.

In spite of his active and busy life, he never lost an opportunity to visit his native town and county. He often preached in our churches and spoke to our schools. His coming to Appomattox County was always an event that was looked forward to by local people.

It was a privilege to come in contact and listen to a man of his breadth and depth of mind, his great spiritual stature, his delightful personality and keen sense of humor. His humility, in spite of his great accomplishments, his compassion for his fellow man and his concern for the salvation of the world, left no one in doubt that he was truly one of God's anointed servants and an inspiring dynamic Christian leader.

Dr. Franklin is survived by his sister, our own Miss Kate Franklin, of Pamplin.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday at eleven A. M. in the First Baptist Church in Richmond by Dr. Theodore F. Adams, with burial in Hollywood Cemetery. Outstanding religious leaders from many parts of the United States were in attendance.

(Editor's note: We are grateful to our outstanding townsman, Mr. J. A. Burke, for the above tribute to one of the most outstanding natives of Appomattox County.)
